Hi John,

My brother sails the Chesapeake quite a lot and found the product, NavalKleen Small Craft Formula, somewhere down there. I have a 38 Island Packet sail boat and he gave me some of his. I use it in the bilge but mostly at the fuel dock for spills in the water and on my deck. It takes care of the diesel in seconds – and, unlike detergents the oil does not simply drop to the bottom but is “eaten” by microbs – very green. And only a few squirts kills any and all smells in the bilge.

Please do add me to your email list. I can't find any ship's store that carries it. They ALL should!

Thanks and have a great weekend,

Tom
